BUDGETING FOR BASIC NEEDS AND BUDGETING FOR MINIMUM ADEQUATE STANDARD OF LIVING - 2011 $ _____

This budgeting guide is published once a year. "Budgeting for Basic Needs" sets standards for rent, electricity, heating, food, clothing, personal and domestic care supplies, which vary according to size, sex, age and activities of the members of a family while "Budgeting for minimum Adequate Standard of Living" sets standards for additional items allowing the household to become active members of the community.

Both budgets are practical guides in counseling. They are useful in measuring the adequacy of a family income and in establishing and evaluating rate scales for financial assistance programs.
